SIXTY-FOURTH - coach modification – PULL INSTALLED ON COMPUTER DRAWER. After damaging fingernails for the third time while opening the computer drawer in front of the co-pilots seat, it was time to make a modification.

After consultation with Cathey a nickel pull was purchased and installed to prevent another occurrence of a broken fingernail. Tiffin was consulted about the problem months ago their suggestion was to increase the depth and width of the indented bottom side of the drawer's face. Even after that modification a couple of days ago I lost another fingernail when opening the drawer.

So enough was enough, we found this pull at Lowe's in their hardware section it's cost was less than $ 3.00 with it installed I hope the broken fingernails will be in my past. We opted for this pull style in an effort to prevent snagging clothes or a purse on the pull while entering or exiting the coach.
